

AHA INDUSTRY BALL

Elegance, sophistication and achievement were the key ingredients at the AHA Devil's Lair 2010 Accommodation Hotel Industry Gala Ball held in Burswood's Grand Ballroom last week. The 500-plus guest list was heavily studded with politicians, who enjoyed the AHA's lavish concept of wining and dining its guests over five fabulous courses in a classy setting with a baby grand piano in the centre of the ballroom, on a night punctuated by vocals and dance. "Tourism is the topic of the day," said chief executive Bradley Woods in the lead-up to the most prestigious award of the night — the Accommodation Hotels Hall of Fame — which was won by an emotional Marylyn New of Fremantle's Esplanade Hotel. Afterwards? Showgirls heralded a cocktail-drenched finale in a hip bar featuring a wall of galaxy lights.
